THE OLD VETS MEET.

Lee's Birthday to be Fittingly Celebrated. Reading of Papers Postponed.

The regular monthly meeting of Watts Camp of Confederate Veterans met last night and a very interesting session was held. The camp was called to order by the commander, Col. S. S. Brooke, who announced that the secretary being absent Mr. H. O. Frye would act in that capacity. Mr. Frye said as the secretary had prepared no minutes of last meeting he would read the report of the meeting as given by THE TIMES, which report, after slight alteration, was adopted.

Colonel Brooke informed the camp that he had received a circular from the grand camp at Richmond soliciting aid for the Soldier's Home and asking that the camp raise at least one dollar per head for each member enrolled, this collection to be taken at the meeting of January 19, when they will meet to celebrate General Lee's birthday. Colonel Brooke read from the recent proceedings of the Legislature a bill asking that the State appropriate $30,000 instead of $10,000, the present appropriation for the support of this institution.

A resolution was passed requesting Col. Lewis and Captain Oliver, who are a committee on Soldier's Home, to urge the representatives from this district to do everything in their power to secure the $30,000 appropriation.

A committee of ten, consisting of the following gentlemen, was appointed to secure $1 per head to be turned in on the 19th of January: Dr. Hodgson, N. B. Johnson, P. Locket, H. T. Parrish, W. P. Dupuy, Captain N. P. Ford, Colonel Thomas Lewis, C. C. Tallaferrro, T. B. Buford and S. H. Coleman. Each member of this committee will take fifteen names from the roll and endeavor to secure $1 from each.

Under the head of application for membership the name of Major S. Griffin, of Bedford, was offered and unanimously passed upon. Mrs. H. W. Frye, who was present, was elected an honorary member. The reports of special committees were then heard. A letter was read from Col. John B. Carey by the chairman of the committee on a school history.

The committee on entertainments reported and its chairman informed the camp that he had written to twenty-eight different men, who were prominent officials in the Southern army, asking them to furnish papers to be read before the camp. Out of the twenty-eight letters written he had received promises from eight to furnish at some time articles for the entertainment and instruction of the camp.

Maj. Coleman made a short and pithy address on the books for Southern schools, and said he had been a teacher for twenty years, during which time he had examined and used in his schools a dozen different histories, but none were used without protest.

All except one were written by Northern men, who gave a partial and incorrect account of the Southern cause. "We owe it to ourselves and to our children," said he, "that the world should have a correct view of our position on this great question."

It was announced that Col. S. S. Marye, of Lynchburg, and Maj. S. Griffin, of Bedford, will be present at the celebration of Lee's birthday, the 19th, and furnish interesting papers on that occasion.

Phil. Locket made a short address in which he gave a vivid description of Pickett's charge on Cemetery Ridge. Rev. Mr. Duffy, who was to read a paper prepared by Mr. Hutchinson, said that owing to the late hour he thought it would be an injustice, both to Mr. Hutchinson and the audience, to read the paper, but would read it at some
